

A Steamy Escape...

Liz and Paul Fryer and their children Jacob, Annie and Leah were excited. They were about to embark on the final part of their basement finishing - the steam room. Liz had experienced a steam room on a holiday and knew that with all of the benefits (for skin care, respiratory health, and aromatherapy treatments), a steam room was the best choice for her family.

When the Fryers approached the company that had finished the rest of the basement, they quickly realized that steam room was something that company had never done before. Hesitant to be their first attempt, Liz and Paul decided to contact a plumbing company instead. Going on a high recommendation from Liz's sister-in-law (who had her bath and kitchen done by Schweitzer's), they called Rudi Schweitzer's company; and were thrilled with what they got.

With Rudi's help the Fryers settled on a location in the basement for the steam room that would be both functional and cost effective. Rudi's experience and knowledge made Liz and Paul feel confident in their choice. Right from the very beginning he had great ideas, great suggestions, was easy to work with and was always on the same page.

Once they decided to go ahead, Liz met with Roxanne at the Schweitzer's store. Roxanne helped Liz through the whole process of picking tiles. While Liz had a general idea of what she wanted for the finished product, Roxanne helped tailor those ideas into a stylish, high end look while retaining a great value for the money spent.

When it came time to install, the tradespeople were all very professional. The tiler noticed things that the family didn't even notice, but because he was not happy with them, he came back to fix them. Liz was so impressed with the service that all of the people who worked on the room have been invited back to try it out!

"I felt that the customer was always right, always valued and always included. I would highly recommend Schweitzer's to anyone!" ~ Liz
